

Federica Irene Falomi is an Economic Affairs Officer at the United Nations Technology Bank for Least Developed Countries. She coordinates the Technology Bank's work on research, analysis and Technology Needs Assessments, as well as technology transfer and STI capacity building programmes. Previously, as Research Fellow at Tiresia, Polytechnic University of Milan, she worked on research and advisory for the development of social innovation and impact investing in Italy and Europe. Federica has also worked on social policy analysis and research at UNICEF Eastern and Southern Africa Regional Office in Kenya, with a focus on Public Finance for children and youth, and as Project Manager at the Allianz Foundation. Federica holds a Master's in Economic and Social Sciences from Bocconi University.