Monte Jade Global

Science and Technology Association

Promoting the cooperation and mutual flow of technology & investment globally

Promoting the cooperation and mutual flow of technology and investment globally!

Providing opportunities for professionals and corporations to network and share valuable experiences in investment, opportunities, management, technology and business information exchange.

Background

Monte Jade Science and Technology Association was established by a group of high-tech Chinese-American executives in Silicon Valley in 1989.

Monte Jade is a non-profit organization. Named after the highest mountain in Northeast Asia, whose inhabitants have viewed Monte Jade as spiritual inspiration for the pursuit of excellence, integrity, and creativity. Monte Jade was created with the same values in mind and strives to inspire our members to achieve their highest potential.

Objectives

Monte Jade's objective is to promote the cooperation and mutual flow of technology and investment globally. This providing opportunities for professional and corporations to network and share valuable experiences in investment, opportunity, management, technology and business information exchange.

Global Monte Jade also provides resources and creates a global platform for chapters and our collaborators to pursuit their goal.
